

The background is a solid light pink color. It is decorated with several smudges of bright red lipstick. The smudges are of various sizes and orientations, some appearing as full lips and others as partial smears. The central smudge is the largest and most prominent, serving as a backdrop for the main text.

Welcome TO THE RED-PRINT

Girlies, the world has change tremendously and we are becoming more advanced as the days go by. The avenues towards dating has become more online based rather than the good ole' fashion way, of meeting your next Prince Charming by chance. We basically can get to know someone with simply a click, an add, and now even a swipe. Contrary to horror stories of disastrous online meet ups and the Infamous "Tinder Swindler" we just have to adjust to the times as cautious and as smart as possible. When it comes to men, reading their text messages to understand their intent is a bit more difficult because we physically cannot see the persons body language, facial expressions nor tone of voice if he doesn't send a voice message.

This is why I encourage you girles to get him off the phone and on a date as soon as possible, It's really the only way we can read him thoroughly. I don't advise giving a man 100% of your attention and time whom is only content texting; let alone texting inconsistently and sporadically. In this short read I will give you general outlooks on common text messages he sends or texting habits he exerts and what do they exactly mean. But before we continue I would like to disclose ground rules to texting men.

RED LIPSTICK ENERGY

NUMBER 1

NEVER TEXT A MAN
THAT HAS NO PROFILE
PICTURE OR PROFILE
INFORMATION ABOUT HIMSELF.

Heres Why?

NEVER TEXT A MAN THAT HAS NO PROFILE PICTURE OR PROFILE INFORMATION ABOUT HIMSELF.

I don't care how private he is. There should be some sign of life or mutual interactions on his page from his friends and him on some basis. You have to ask yourself; why are you on social media and not providing social content. Why don't you have a profile picture? Are you wanted? Are you hiding your face? Most men who aren't social media enthusiasts or savvy would rather meet women the old fashion way than online.

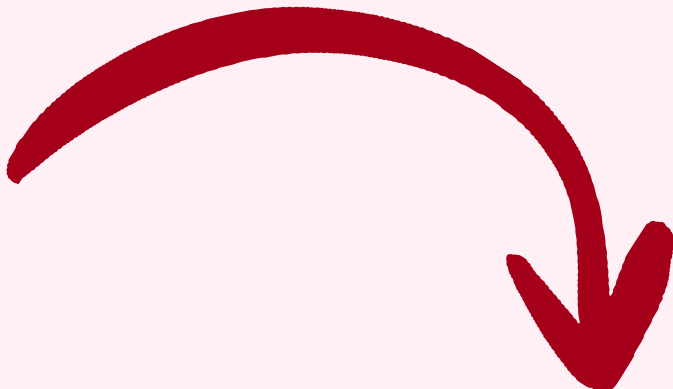

NUMBER 2

NEVER GIVE A MAN
YOUR NUMBER
BECAUSE YOU FEEL PRESSURED TOO.

Here's Why?

Rule # 2

NEVER GIVE A MAN YOUR NUMBER BECAUSE YOU FEEL PRESSURED TOO.

I know sometimes we feel like the "bad guy" by telling a man 'NO'. Its fine we don't mind being the bad guy because we are not settling. See girlies I know about the not liking a guy and then letting him grow on you because he is there. NO! This is a form of settling because he is not your type, this is how we end up liking men we have no business being with. If you are afraid to say no, just give him the wrong number.

NUMBER 3

- DON'T TEXT
- MEN THAT
- ARE
- PUSHING
- YOUR
- SEXUAL
- LIMITS.

DON'T TEXT MEN THAT ARE PUSHING YOUR SEXUAL LIMITS.

Just because he finds you attractive doesn't mean he respects you. You should never entertain conversations that make you feel uncomfortable. You are a woman and there will always be men attracted to you. Don't be flattered these men will sleep with anyone to get a release.

NUMBER 4

- DO NOT
- SEND
- NUDES.

DO NOT SEND NUDES.

Ladies now I know we get in a heated exchange and start becoming loopy and foggy. Never send a man nudes that is not your husband. Especially one you are dating. Remember argument days do come, and if you are unsure about the man you are dealing with your pretty kitty or titty may become the next trending topic on social media. If a man asks for a nude decline, if he gets sensitive about it, leave that man alone.

Red Reminders

01

WHAT DOES IT MEAN WHEN HE ONLY TEXTS ME AT MIDNIGHT?

You are a booty call or the kitty delivery girl. Batman comes out at night to fight crime and go back unseen.

Darling, he doesn't want to be seen with you and the only thing he is fighting is you in the sheets. When men make it a habit to see you at night only, he ONLY WANTS SEX. Do not listen to his antics. When you first start speaking to a guy and he has begun the habitual late night texting, he really wants to see how far you are willing to go to engage with him or have his time. He is also leveraging your interest and he wants to quickly get you in his bed. To deal with men like this, is not dealing with them at all or, setting boundaries. Don't answer late night advances and answer his "hello beautiful" text message at a respectable time the next day. He will definitely get the memo and will either respect your boundary or find an easier prey.

Red Reminders

02

WHAT DOES IT MEAN WHEN HE DOESN'T RESPOND TO A TEXT OR PHONE WITHIN 24 OR MORE HOURS?

He may be busy for real. or he just doesn't care enough to reply...yet.

The best response to a text he didn't reply to is no response. And don't you send that long paragraph you like to send, do not blow up his phone, do not send a follow up text and play it cool when he actually does respond. Please don't let him see you sweat. When, and if he does reply, if he likes you he will give you an explanation without you having to ask for one. It might even be a lame explanation, but if he goes out of his way to provide you one without you prompting, consider giving him the benefit of the doubt. However, remember, one isolated incident is enough. No more chances. If he continues this behaviour you should go cold turkey, and remove him from your priority list.

Now if you took my advice and dated multiple people you wouldn't care. However, if you don't have any other candidates, mirror his texting response time. If his behaviour continues for two weeks and he hasn't asked you out (or asked you out again), ignore him with no remorse and move on. Thank you next.

Red Reminders

03

4. WHAT DOES IT MEAN WHEN HE TEXTS ME “DAYS” LATER AFTER A FIRST DATE?

He doesn't want to appear desperate, probably on other dates or just a man that doesn't like you a lot .

This is a sign he has no interest and you should probably get your next caller on the line. If he really likes you and has some form of self-confidence, the whole waiting to not seem desperate rule thing won't matter to him. Some men are very intelligent, and grounded in whom they are as a man. These type of men have no problem expressing their interest without a time limit. The only thing I can say is to try not to take it personal if it happens to you and use discernment. If you need more time to figure him out, take the time needed. If he is a red flag he is bound to show his lack of interest in another habit or texting trait.

Red Reminders

05

WHY DOES HE GOES GHOST AND REAPPEARS AND TEXT LIKE NOTHING HAS HAPPENED.

To get straight to the point a man that disappears and reappears is a waste of time.

A man who can't stay consistent with his presence can never stay consistent with an entire relationship. Do not give him the benefit of the doubt with something so simple as communication. You are a back up plan to a man like this. You are either helping his ego or his penis. This is not something you should seek to fix.

Red Reminders

06

WHY DID WE EXCHANGE NUMBERS BUT HE DIDN'T TEXT ME?

Men do this for a variety of reasons;

- In a few podcast episodes ago I spoke on going to places where we are able to find better dating candidates this is one of the reasons. If you meet someone in the middle of the day and he was brave enough to get your attention through conversation and asks for your number, then it probably means he likes you and wants to get to know you more intimately. If he got your number while he was drunk, at a strip club (or almost drunk) having fun at a bar with his friends, there's a lower chance of getting a follow-up. There is also a high element of peer pressure at bars and nightclubs so it is a high possibility that he asked for your number just to impress his friends or stroke his ego.
- Some guys use getting your number as a challenge activity. As shallow as it sounds it's true. Men also do this to build up their casualty list. What's a casualty list? It's a list that he refers to when he is bored, horny, or upset with one of his main girls.

Red Reminders

07

WHY DO MEN TEXT YOU EVEN IF THEY'RE NOT INTERESTED?

Men do this for a variety of reasons;

- The same reason why men sleep with women they do not like. Accessibility, convenience and boredom. If he's bored and needs a little stimulation and amusement in the form of a beautiful distraction, he's going to text you, especially if knows you're a reliable form of entertainment for him. If he wants to keep you as "back-up" dating material, he'll keep on texting you to ensure that he stays on your mind. You're a substitute lover, that can easily slip into a sneaky link or situation-ship partner.

08

WHAT DOES IT MEAN WHEN HE ASKS YOU OUT ON A LOT OF DATES, YOU GO OUT, BUT HARDLY TEXTS OR KEEPS IN TOUCH WITH YOU BETWEEN THE NEXT DATE.

- This is a question that has to be generally answered until you have analysed the situation. Some men don't like texting but may like you. To truly know if he is a texter or not watch him when you go on a next date with him. You will see if he is being honest. Also he may be juggling you and many other candidates. If you are not comfortable with it,

DEVELOPING RED LIP ENERGY

Red Lip Energy isn't about the lipstick its about the woman wearing it. It's the decision to show up boldly, even when life tries to dim your shine. It's the quiet confidence that says, I know my value, I know my voice, and I will not settle for less than I deserve.

When you step into Red Lip Energy, you stop chasing and start attracting. You no longer wait around for validation, attention, or half-hearted communication. Instead, you create space for men, opportunities, and experiences that rise to your standard.

This is the core of Never Get Left on Read Again: teaching you how to carry yourself with such presence and self-worth that being overlooked becomes impossible. Red Lip Energy makes your voice heard, your presence felt, and your boundaries respected.

IN CONCLUSION

I know dating can be a pain at times, but in order to be successful we have to master every aspect of it. Learning how to read people through words is a super power you can use to your advantage. I'm hoping in the near future to be able to expand more on this topic for you. Until then happy texting and grab a copy of my dating ebook Pass Me The Wine for more inspiration.
